STONEMOUTH

BANKS, Iain

Stewart Gilmour is back in Stonemouth. After five years in exile his presence is required at the funeral of Joe Murston, and even though the last time Stu saw the Murstons he was running for his life, staying away might be even more dangerous than turning up. Banks' last 'straight' novel, The Steep Approach to Gaberdale, was his worst ever and, thankfully, only a glitch. Says Iain here at Pulp: Stonemouth is excellent - along the lines of The Crow Road. PBK

THE CRONING

"Donald Miller, geologist and academic, has walked along the edge of a chasm for most of his nearly eighty years, leading a charmed life between endearing absent-mindedness and sanityshattering realization. Now, all things must converge. Donald will discover the dark secrets along the edges, unearthing savage truths about his wife Michelle, their adult twins, and all he knows and trusts. For Donald is about to stumble upon the secret - of The Croning" – publisher's blurb

GIDEON'S ANGEL

BEAL, Clifford

1653: The long and bloody English Civil War is at an end. King Charles is dead and Oliver Cromwell rules the land as king in all but name. Richard Treadwell, an exiled royalist officer and soldier-for-hire to the King of France, decides upon a selfappointed mission: to return to England in secret and assassinate the new Lord Protector. Once back on English soil however, he learns that his is not the only plot in motion. A secret army run by a deluded Puritan is bent on the same quest, guided by the Devil's hand. When demonic entities are summoned, Treadwell finds himself in a desperate turnaround: he must save Cromwell to save England from a literal descent into Hell.

CALLIOPE REAPER-JONES 05: THE GOLDEN AGE OF DEATH

BENSON, Amber

"My name is Calliope Reaper-Jones (Callie to my friends). I'm Death's Daughter and - as of very recently - the (reluctant) head of my father's company, Death, Inc. I was gradually learning how to be a businesswoman. Had the power suits and shoes down, though the day to day was slow going. Then I was blindsided by Enemies Unknown and sent off to I-don't-knowwhere. Not a good thing. Now not only must my friends and family be frantic, but without a CEO, Death, Inc., can't function. With the newly deceased left free to roam the Earth it's the zombie apocalypse come true." - publisher's blurb PBK

DEAD THINGS

BLACKMORE, Stephen

Necromancer is such an ugly word, but it's a title Eric Carter is stuck with. He sees ghosts, talks to the dead. He's turned it into a lucrative career putting troublesome spirits to rest, sometimes taking on even more dangerous things. For a fee, of course. When he left LA fifteen years ago, he thought he'd never go back. Too many bad memories. Too many people trying to kill him. But now his sister's been murdered and Carter wants to find out why.

HOMUNCULUS

BLAYLOCK, James

It is the late 19th century and a mysterious airship orbits through the foggy skies. Its terrible secrets are sought by many, including the Royal Society, a fraudulent evangelist, a fiendish vivisectionist, an evil millionaire and an assorted group led by the scientist and explorer Professor Langdon St. Ives. Can St. Ives keep the alien homunculus out of the claws of the villainous Ignacio Narbondo? A reissue of the first in the Langdon St Ives series, from one of the original steampunkers. Great fun - recommended!

A NATURAL HISTORY OF DRAGONS

BRENNAN, Marie

"Isabella, Lady Trent, is a naturalist and adventurer in a country that more or less resembles 19th-century England, yet fantastical creatures roam, Judaism appears to be the dominant religion, and Europe once had an ancient Egypt-like civilization. Isabella has been obsessed with studying dragons since childhood, but a formal scientific career is off limits to a woman. Instead she marries a man who shares her passion for natural history and convinces him to let her join his expedition to see the wild dragons of Vystrana. Along the way, Isabella solves a mystery and proves her worth as a naturalist. Brennan's worldbuilding is wonderfully subtle, rendering a familiar land alien with casual details. Fans of fantasy, science, and history will adore this rich and absorbing tale of discovery." - Publisher's Weekly. $42.95

AND LED THE REVELS THERE

VALENTE, Catherynne M. September has longed to return to Fairyland after her first adventure there, told in the wonderful The Girl Who Circumnavigated Fairyland in a Ship of Her Own Making (PBK, $16.95). And when she finally does, she learns that its inhabitants have been losing their shadows - and their powers - to the world of Fairyland Below. Highly recommended – for kids of all ages! – these are magical!

DEATHLESS

VALENTE, Catherynne M.

Valente's take on the Russian legend of Koschei the Deathless brings the action to modern times, spanning many of the great developments of Russian history in the twentieth century. "Deathless "is a collision of magical history and actual history, of revolution and mythology, of love and death, that will bring Russian myth to life in a stunning new incarnation." publisher's blurb. "For fans of Neil Gaiman, Gregory Maguire, and the like, this is essential." - Library Journal
