If a book has sold out by the time we receive your order, we will back-order and supply, when available.

Pulp Fiction has access to thousands of books not shown in our monthly catalogues. We are only too happy to order anything if we don't have it on the shelves.

If you can't make it into the shop, you can post, phone, or e-mail your order. We accept Mastercard, Visa, AMEX, cheques and Australia Post Money Orders.

Alien 3:

the unproduced screenplay
by William Gibson

Gadigan, Pat & Gibson, William

William Gibson's never-before-adapted screenplay for the direct sequel to Aliens, revealing the fates of Ripley, Newt, the synthetic Bishop, and Corporal Hicks. When the Colonial Marines vessel, Sulaco, docks with space station and military installation Anchorpoint, a new form of Xenomorph appears – written by Hugo Award-winning novelist and 'Queen of Cyberpunk' Pat Gadigan, based on Gibson's never-produced first draft. The Sulaco – on its return journey from LV-426 – enters a sector controlled by the 'Union of Progressive Peoples,' a nation-state engaged in an ongoing cold war and arms race. UPP personnel board the Sulaco and find hypersleep tubes with Ripley, Newt, and an injured Hicks. A Facehugger attacks the lead commando, and the others narrowly escape, taking what remains of Bishop with them. The Sulaco continues to Anchorpoint, a space station and military installation the size of a small moon, where it falls under control of the military's Weapons Division. Boarding the Sulaco, a team of Colonial Marines and scientists is assaulted by a pair of Xenomorph drones. In the fight, Ripley's cryotube is badly damaged. It's taken aboard Anchorpoint, where Ripley is kept comatose. Newt and an injured Corporal Hicks are awakened; and Newt is sent to Gateway Station, on the way to Earth. The UPP sends Bishop to Anchorpoint, where Hicks begins to hear rumours of experimentation – the cloning and genetic modification of Xenomorphs. The kind of experimentation that could yield a monstrous hybrid... and, perhaps, even a Queen.
